THAT WAS THEN

The Alfarata was first introduced to the Juniata College community seventy five years ago. Since that time, many physical aspects of the college have changed; however its commitment toward serving the faculty and students still remains. Through tradition and patronage, Juniata students learn from the past and apply it to the future.

Tradition is an integral part of student life at Juniata College. The Cloister, Mountain Day, Madrigal Dinner, Presidential, Springfest, and the May Day Breakfast are just a few more popular traditions shared by the Juniata Students of the past and present. However, one steadfast tradition has been omitted from the list, the tradition of sharing among the faculty, current students, and alumni.

The alumni of Juniata College keep our tradition of sharing alive through patronage. One must not look far on Juniata's campus to discover how many buildings and tools are here due to the patronage of alumni. Also, student artwork and other memorabilia adorn our campus to remind us that Juniata College does not just exist in the present. We are a college rich in tradition and heritage; we realize the importance of our past, the pleasures of our present, and the challenges of our future.

With this preamble, we the staff of the Alfarata invite you to join us on our reminiscent journey of Juniata College. However, as you begin your odyssey keep in mind that that was then, this is now...

Juniata College's lacrosse team was led and organized by Graham Robbins. For the first time the team was able to move away from being a club sport to joining a league. The group pulled together as a team mid season and showed much improvement. They impressed the crowd with an amount of finesse unreached by Juniata College to date. Although their record does not show it, the team played well and most importantly had fun. Next year should be an impressive year the team will only be losing three seniors.

Do to circumstances beyond our control, the yearbook staff was unable to get scoreboards for every sport and unfortunately we were unable to get pictures for Men's Volleyball. For that we are gratefully sorry, but we do want to say that the Men's Volleyball team had an excellent season this year. We wish them the best of luck next season, as we do all of the Juniata teams.

One of the first traditions that Freshman experience is Lobsterfest. JC students gather on the front lawn of Sherwood and eat lobster. What a way to welcome the new and returning students.

Many activities occur on Juniata's campus. One of them is the Special Olympics. Many students volunteer to help with different sporting events such as volleyball and soccer.

Saturday evening brought Carol Liefer to the stage of Oller Hall to entertain both students and parents. On Sunday morning the Parent's appreciation breakfast was held.

Homecoming '92 was a hit. It was a time for alumni to return to a fun-filled weekend of football and friends. Homecoming activities ranged from lip syncs, skits, coffeehouse, and the a dance, to soccer, field hickey, and football. The class of '94 once again won the lip sync, but the Sophomores took the skits.

David Satterlee was the MC for this year's annual All Class Night. Satterlee was joined by chemistry professor Dave Reingold in the opening act. After Satterlee's message about safe sex was presented, he pulled his pants back on and allowed the classes to perform. The Seniors got a disappointing third place, with the Freshman right behind in fourth. The Sophomores took second, while the Juniors finished with a first place win. It was a night that the faculty and students will not forget.

Even though it was a little chilly outside you could find people throwing the football around.

SPRINGFEST

This years Springfest, with a Mexican theme, was once again a success. Mud volleyball got off a good start with the students eventually getting the mud slide going. There was plenty of entertainment and many ethnic foods to satisfy an appetite.

The Seniors brought blankets and were enjoying their last Springfest.

Because this years theme was Mexican, food service served many interesting Mexican style dishes.

This gang enjoyed the food while they listened to the bands playing music.

MAY DAY

The theme of the 1993 May Day was "Women Around The World." The breakfast was attended by many women know to the JC campus, including students. The servers were the males of JC. The highlights of the breakfast were the many women speakers from France, Japan, India, and America, along with the announcement of this years court.

In the 1920's May Day was celebrated by dancing around the May Pole.

FRIDAY NIGHT LIVE

One of the many activities that Centerboard sponsored throughout the year was FNL. FNL was always well attended by the students. Various bands provided the pre-show entertainment. Then, many highly revered comedians would make an appearance on the JC campus and they managed to fill the campus with laughter for a night.

JC students were entertained by many bands before the comedians made their appearance.

The IC students loved to sing and dance along with the music played by the many talented artists.

The laughs came easy on Friday night as the JC students listened to the comedians.

The various topics of the comedians acts were that of Huntingdon, the mascot, and college life.

UNCLE VANYA

"Uncle Vanya," written by Anton Chekhov with the English version by Jean-Claude van Itallie, was presented in November. The play included many familiar faces of the Juniata stage as cast crew. New faces joined the old for a stunning performance.

This year's spring production was "Loot," a play written by Joe Orton. The play featured new and old faces to JC's stage. The cast did a fine job presenting this comedy about bank robbers who hide money in the casket of their deceased mother.

ARTIST SERIES

Each year Juniata College brings in various artist to perform at Oller Hall. The Artist Series is presented for the entertainment of the entire Juniata community and the general public. Some of the 1992-1993 Artist Series are pictured here.

GRADUATION

Graduation is a joyous and sad time. Graduation signifies for most Seniors that they survived a long and trying four years. At the same time the class of 1993 will be saying good bye to all they know and cherish here at Juniata College. They will say good bye to fellow students and faculty, and the many friends they made along their journey through this chapter in their life. And, while this chapter in their life is closing, a new one is just beginning. For some it will start with graduate school while for others it means starting a new career. Where ever the class of 1993 goes they will always remember that day in May when they processed down the isle, sat in the sun, received their diploma, and then left Juniata's campus to begin a new life.

— THAT WAS THEN —

As our journey through the Alfarata comes to a close, we must keep one thought in clear perspective: "that was then; this is now." As we saw, the Juniata of today is definitely not the Juniata of the past. However, we as students must realize that these changes are superficial in nature. Juniata College is still the source of a caring faculty who strive to form a relationship that goes beyond professor and student.

As the years pass, Juniata changes; dorms become renovated, styles come and go, and technology advances. These occurrences are all a part of the natural world. Juniata, however, finds a way to be a part of this cycle without losing those things from the past that make the Juniata community so special. Mountain Day, Lobsterfest, Madrigal Dinner, Presidential Ball, and the May Day Breakfast are all proof of this strong belief of our culture; the belief in tradition. Tradition is the one way to form a link from the past to the present and to the future.

The traditions of Juniata College do not end with that list. Everyday new traditions form; every year as a new class enters something is gained. Every person who enters Juniata College leaves a part of themselves, whether it be through academics, clubs, or athletics. Every person who enters Juniata College is also touched by one very special tradition; the tradition of excellence. So, even though times may change and fads may come and go, we the members of the Juniata community know that we have tradition to link us together. We have tradition to remind us of our past and to allow us to glimpse into the future. That was then, this is now; what is to come?

Being Editor-in-Chief of a yearbook is a very special privilege. But, it is an honor to be able to be the Editor-in-Chief of an Anniversary Edition, such as this. This is the 75th Edition of the Alfarata. This yearbook is one that will not soon be forgotten by the Juniata Community. It holds in it memories of the 1992-1993 school year along with various photos that depict Juniata's past.

This Alfarata is the product of many hours of hard work. My staff and I spent hours deciding on a theme and finding photos that would not only enable us to freeze the present but also let us bring back to life the past. I want to extend my sincere thanks to my staff for all of their hard work, to Harold Brumbaugh for allowing us to use the photos from the past, and to Bev Harader from Jostens and Abe Orlick from Devor. I would especially like to thank Doug Custer, my student advisor. Doug stood by my side all year helping me in every way possible. Thank you Doug for all your help and I honestly feel that there would not have been a 1993 Alfarata without you.

I hope everyone enjoys and treasures this Anniversary Edition of the Alfarata, there will never be another one like it.
